Feeding Tips

1. Feeding Dry Food: While kittens are young we give them all day access to dry food and water
2. Feeding Soft Food: While kittens are young we feed ½ container of soft feed morning and evening as a treat.
3. Water: Your water may taste differently than mine, give them time to get used to your water, avoid offering water from a water hose or water that has gone through a water softener.
4. Bringing Your Kitten Home: Keep their feeding schedule the same as above until they've gotten used to their new home
5. Switching Food: Mix their current and new dry food until you've gotten their stomachs used to the new food.
6. As Your Kitten Grows: Maintaining a healthy weight is important, you may have to switch to a lower fat cat food choice as they age.

Thoughts on Raw Food

We are neither for nor against giving Bengals raw food. However we strongly encourage anyone who decides to go that route to do extensive research. A good source of information is: Darwinspet.com
